Join us four Saturdays in July from 7:00-9:00 pm for a film and discussion

July 8 A Panoramic View of the Refugee Crisis

This exploration of the current refugee crisis draws upon two films. Cate Blanchett lends her voice to the 23 minute documentary film Refugee, a film that follows five internationally acclaimed photographers recording the lives of displaced people on five continents. In The Refugee Crisis, Thomas Gammeltoft-Hansen takes a step back to explain why the crisis emerged, how it affects the world's refugees, why the current policies are failing and what kind of solutions might work instead. Discussion will be led by a representative of the United Nations Association (UNA). Co-sponsored by the UN Association of Santa Barbara.

July 15 A Table for Sixty-Thousand

Each day 60,000 people are served a free meal at the historic Sikh site of the 'Golden Temple' in Amritsar, India, using the community itself to create the meal which is shared by all. What motivates people of diverse backgrounds to do such service? How is so much food prepared each day? Where does the food come from? Producers Teresa and Jasprit Singh will introduce the film and lead the talk back discussion after the film ends.

July 22 MindWalk

Based on the book, "The Turning Point" by Fritjof Capra, this film dramatizes an exploration of ideas about life through the intellectual conversations of a politician, a poet, and a scientist. The setting in the unique island-abbey of Mont St. Michel gives a sense of an isolated citadel of thought, yet it is still connected with mainstream humanity. The film stars Sam Waterston, John Heard and Liv Ullmann. It is directed by Bernt Capra, brother of Fritjof Capra. (1990)

July 29 The Hundred-Foot Journey

This story depicts with humor a feud between two restaurants in a provincial French town, one operated by a recently relocated Indian family and the other by the status-conscious owners of a fancy Michelin-starred restaurant. Their competition is upset by the rise to national fame as a creative chef, one of the Indians who goes to work in the French restaurant. This American, comedy-drama is directed by Lasse Hallström and stars Helen Mirren, Om Puri, Manish Dayal and Charlotte Le Bon. (2014)
