

FORUM
Global Dialogue and Revolutionary Change

“The secret of change is to focus all of your energy, not on fighting the old, but on building the new.” ~ Socrates

Saturday, January 12, 2019 from 3:00 – 5:00 pm
Concord Hall, 1407 Chapala Street, Santa Barbara Presenters: Maurice Bisheff and Jenny Bisheff

In this forum, discussion will highlight the global dialogues at four international conferences whose abstract and concrete aims promoted human dignity, revolutionary change and greater freedom for human choice. These aims pointed to transformations in religion, universal philosophy, basic income programs, development of the commons and non-violence in education. Questions will be encouraged, including whether these and many other global dialogues are icebergs covering a hidden revolution in global values and the expression of compassion. The presenters attended these conferences held during 2018, including the World Parliament of Religions held in Toronto with 10,000 participants.
