Suggestion Form for 2019 Programs

FREEDOM, EXCELLENCE AND SELF-TRANSCENDENCE

The programs offered by the Institute in 2019 will explore the meaning and practice of three core ideas: freedom, excellence and self-transcendence. Each of these ideas points to fundamental potentials in human beings. Each can be used to develop inner qualities of character in an individual, and each can be used to contribute to the culture of a society.

Freedom enables moral choice. Excellence demonstrates a high accomplishment of latent knowledge and skill. Self-transcendence requires a rise in consciousness to a level that is above, beyond and deeper than the experience of sensory perceptions. Together these ideas interact and nourish cultures. In time, a world culture can emerge from the authentic development and use of these ideas.

We welcome your suggestion(s) for forums and seminars to be presented in the coming year. If you wish, you may view your suggestion through the lens of one of the following:

Astronomy • Science and Medicine • Literature & Poetry • Historical Studies
Visual Arts and the Expressions of Excellence • Archaeological Discoveries
Ancient Cultures • Geophysical Studies • Music • Justice and Equality
What are the most pressing problems facing human beings?

A response to this suggestion form is appreciated by November 17, 2018, but ideas and suggestions for the Institute's programs are welcome at any time. Email form to: Gerry@worldculture.org or mail it to:
