
IWC STUDY CIRCLE – FEBRUARY 2017

PARAPOLITICAL PRINCIPLES: Steps Toward Global Community

Meets Tuesday
evenings
7:30 – 9:00 pm

1407 Chapala St.
Santa Barbara, CA

In turbulent times, dialogue is difficult but necessary. Principles and clarified concepts are needed to focus and guide the mind toward a shared vision of the society of the future and metaphorically, a “City of Man”. Constructive questioning can lead to wise social and ethical choices. Fertile questions include what is living and what is dead in contemporary political ideas, traditional beliefs and inherited allegiances. How may a better future be constructed from our complex past? What commitments are needed to support the development of a global community?

A major resource for this study circle dialogue is the book Parapolitics. Readings will be posted to the IWC website at least a week before a topic is to be discussed. Copies of Parapolitics will be available for purchase at meetings. Additional readings from Plato and other philosophers will be explored. Contemporary illustrations of parapolitical initiatives will be studied.

- Feb 7 Plato's Crito
- Feb 14 “Agathon and the Cave” from Parapolitics
- Feb 21 “Tolerance and Civility” from Parapolitics
- Feb 28 “Tolerance and Civility” from Parapolitics

For more information: <http://www.worldculture.org>